

Structural Engineers Association of Georgia Young Member Group

SEAOG YMG Habitat Build

Atlanta, GA
March 24, 2018

On Saturday, March 24th, a group of SEAOG Young Members volunteered with Habitat for Humanity to help construct a house in a local Atlanta neighborhood. Members helped install windows, siding, and roof trusses. Look out for our new reality TV show on HGTV!

This is one of several volunteer opportunities our members have taken part in this spring along with Fernbank Engineering Day, Future City Competition and other city programs that looks to improve STEM interest and skills among students in the Atlanta area.

As young engineers a lot of our time and energy is spent learning about our industry and proving ourselves in the working world. While this is important, it is equally as important to find the right balance in order to make time to give back to the community and foster the next generation of structural engineers.
